- At midday, they were still working.

Or by a simple past sentence for interrupting actions.

Past simple vs Past continuous

We use the past simple for completed actions in the past, and we use the past continuous for actions in progress (not finished) in the past.

- We ate out yesterday. (the action is finished)
- We were eating at 9. (the action was not finished)

The past continuous describes a longer action or situation, and the past simple describes a shorter action or event.

- When I met Susan, she was having a drink at a terrace with a friend.
- We didn't go out because it was raining.

The short action in past simple often interrupts the longer action in past continuous.

- He was playing football when he broke his arm.
- When I went to bed, it was raining.

We use the past simple for completed actions that happened one after the other. Compare:

- When he arrived, she was having a shower. (The action of having a shower started before he arrived)
- When he arrived, she had a shower. (The action of having a shower started after he arrived)
