Avatars and their Creators

1An avatar is a visual representation of a person on the internet. At this very moment, millions of people around the world are chatting and interacting in on line games and most of them use avatars to do this.

2 So, how do people create their avatars? A photographer and journalist called Robbie Cooper is very interested in the connection between avatars and the real people behind them. His book Alter Ego; Avatar and their Creator looks at particular examples in the world of on line computer games. Generally, people do things in different ways. For example, some people make their avatars very similar to their real identity, either in appearance or personality. Other people use their avatars to express a different side of their personality, and occasionally people decide to make an avatar that is almost completely opposite to their real identity, showing them not as they are, but as they would like to be.

3take the example of Jason Rowe. He has sever muscular dystrophy in real life. he needs a special machine to live and breathe. But when he plays on line, he is a tall, strong, well-built, fantastic soldier. Jason plays on line 80 hours a week and he enjoys it because other people treat him totally. when people meet him in real life, he finds that they are unconformable because of his appearance. They forgot that, apart from his appearance, he is totally normal. In his case, avatar helps to break down barriers.

4 another player is Elizabeth Browne. Her avatar looks like when she is older. So, instead of having long brown hair, her avatar is gray-haired, and her face is just a little fatter. Elizabeth likes older people who are nice and friendly, and she wants to be like that in the future.

5 then there is April Hatch, who says that she is a very shy person. At first, her avatar was very different from her real self, but she discovered that her avatar makes more friends when she is natural, more like the real April Hatch. Now April feels more confident and as a result she doesn't spend so many hours.
