Part 4: Free-response Question (Inference)

In the heart of the UAE, many communities celebrate their cultural heritage through various events and festivals. The Dubai Shopping Festival, for example, is a huge event that not only brings tourists from all over the world but also gives local businesses a chance to shine. People gather in large crowds to shop, enjoy musical performances, and even watch spectacular fireworks shows. These festivals, while fun, also serve to preserve important cultural traditions. Many of these traditions are passed down from generation to generation, and they allow younger generations to connect with their roots. Over time, these festivals have grown to represent more than just shopping or entertainment; they are a way to unify different cultures within the country. During these festivals, people from all backgrounds can meet, share stories, and learn from each other.

Question: What role do festivals play in the UAE, according to the text?

Justification: Provide evidence from the text to explain why festivals are important.

Part 5: MAZE Task

In the UAE, sports play a significant role in the community.

Football is one of the most popular sports, and the country has built world-class stadiums to host international matches.

But it's not just about the professionals; sports are also deeply ingrained in the daily lives of ordinary people.

Children often play football in the streets, while families spend their weekends at sports complexes or stadiums, watching games or playing sports themselves.

The country has invested heavily in building sports infrastructure, and this focus on sports and physical activity is part of a larger initiative to promote health and well-being.

In addition to football, other popular sports in the UAE include basketball, cricket, and tennis.

Sports events also serve as a way to bring together people from different cultures, creating a sense of unity and fostering international friendships.

Some of the most well-known events include the Abu Dhabi Tennis Championship and the Dubai World Cup, which attract global athletes and spectators.

These events not only promote sports but also showcase the UAE's commitment to fostering international relationships.

Questions:

Part 7: Multiple-choice Questions

Text:

Sports and leisure activities in the UAE are highly valued. People here enjoy spending time outdoors, especially in the cooler months, to take part in activities like desert safaris, hiking, and playing football. The UAE government has created a number of parks and recreational areas for families to enjoy, including the famous Dubai Creek Park and Al Ain Zoo. These places are often filled with people enjoying a picnic, going for a jog, or simply relaxing with friends and family. Another popular leisure activity is shopping, with large malls offering entertainment like movie theaters and ice skating rinks. On weekends, families often gather at these malls or recreational areas to enjoy these activities together. Leisure time in the UAE is an important way for people to bond and enjoy time away from their busy work schedules.

Questions:

Part 8: Multiple-choice Question

Text:

The UAE is known for its hospitality and unique cultural customs. One of the most important customs is the tradition of offering guests food and drinks. When visiting someone's home, it is customary to be offered a cup of Arabic coffee, along with dates, as a gesture of welcome. The food offered during special occasions often includes traditional dishes such as hummus, kebabs, and falafel. Family gatherings are an important aspect of social life in the UAE, with extended families coming together to celebrate holidays, birthdays, and special occasions. The act of sharing food and conversation is a symbol of respect and friendship. In addition to the home, restaurants and cafes across the country reflect the UAE's dedication to preserving its cultural heritage through the menu items and dining experiences they offer.

Question: What is one custom that people in the UAE follow when welcoming guests?

- a) Offering Arabic coffee and dates
 - b) Taking guests on a desert safari
 - c) Giving guests gifts

Part 9: Multiple-choice Questions

Text:

Community is an essential part of life in the UAE. In addition to large national events, local communities also host smaller events to bring people together. For instance, during Ramadan, many neighborhoods organize communal iftar dinners to break the fast. These dinners are a time for people to come together, share food, and strengthen bonds with their neighbors. Additionally, many communities host charity events where people can donate goods and services to help those in need. These events are important because they allow individuals to support each other and contribute to the well-being of the community. As the UAE continues to grow, the spirit of community remains central to its identity, with people from all walks of life working together to build a better future.

1. What is one event mentioned in the text that brings communities together?
 - a) Charity events
 - b) Sports competitions
 - c) International concerts
2. How do community events benefit people in the UAE?
 - a) They give people the chance to compete
 - b) They allow people to connect and help one another
 - c) They are only for tourists

Part 10: Multiple-choice Questions

Text:

The desert in the UAE is an important part of the country's natural landscape. Visitors to the desert can experience its beauty through various activities like dune bashing, camel rides, and camping. The desert is also a place of rich cultural significance, as it has been home to many Bedouin tribes who lived there for centuries. Today, the desert is still a place where traditional ways of life are celebrated. Many festivals, like the Al Marmoom Heritage Festival, are held in the desert to honor the region's history and to showcase traditional arts like falconry, camel racing, and horse riding. The desert may seem empty at first glance, but it is full of life and culture.
