مدرسة المنارة الخاصة - الشامخة

AL-MANARA PRIVATE SCHOOL - SHAMKHA

Reading Exam

1st Semester 2020/2021

Grade – 7–English – Ms. Asma'a Aldulimy

Part 1. Read an email from a school principal to parents. For questions 1 - 5, match the headings to the paragraphs. There is one heading you do not need.

Dear parents,

I am writing to tell you about the grade seven trip to the desert next week.

Staying Safe

1.  There will be one teacher for each group of six students. The teacher will have a mobile phone and water for the students. Everyone will be safe.

- What to wear
- Following the Rules
- A Learning Adventure
- A Long but important Day
- What to Bring
- Staying Safe

2.  Students who break school rules this week cannot go to the desert next week.

Everyone must go to class on time, do their homework, and listen to their teachers. Also, mobile phones are not allowed.

Following the Rules

3.  Every student has a special notebook. They are using it in their science, maths and English classes. It helps them to learn about the desert. They will have a fun and exciting adventure, but they will also learn a lot. A Learning Adventure

4.  Everyone must wear hiking shoes, trousers and sunglasses. All students will receive a t-shirt with our school's name on the front and back. All students must wear the t-shirt on the school trip.

What to Wear

A Long but important Day

5.  This is a day trip, so students will not need sleeping bags, tents or torches. Please bring your child to school at 5.30 am. The bus will leave at 6 am. We will return at 8 pm. This will be a full day of fun and learning.

Please email me to ask questions.

Thank you

Mr Mohammad

Principal

Sharing with Friends

My name is Ali and I want to tell you about my friends, Akira and Itsuki. They live in Japan, but they travel a lot with their parents. Last month, they came to visit us in Sharjah, and our families had so much fun together.

Akira and Itsuki were very excited to learn about falconry, and I had fun teaching them. We also played football with some of my friends. Akira is quite sporty. He played in his school's football team last year.

I told my father they'd never seen a camel, so he planned a surprise for them. He said that he would take us horse riding, but when we arrived in Khattam Al Shikla, there were camels instead. Akira was so excited, but Itsuki was a little scared. Dad said he didn't have to ride the camel if he didn't want to, but Itsuki decided to try it. He loved it so much, that he didn't want to leave.

On their last day in the UAE, Akira, Itsuki, their mother and father all dressed in traditional Emirati clothes and we took a picture together. Next month, my family will go to Japan and we will see our friends again. I don't know what they will teach us about Japanese culture, but I hope we can take a picture with everyone wearing kimonos.

Part 2. Read a text about Ali and his Japanese friends. For questions 6 - 10, choose the correct answer A, B or C.

Colourful Mexico

In Mexico, the formal way of greeting each other is by shaking hands. When people meet for the first time, they usually shake hands and say "Mucho gusto". This is a polite way of saying 'Nice to meet you'. Close friends and family members hug and kiss on the cheek. A less formal way, to greet people who know each other, is to simply say, 'Hola'. An informal greeting '¡Qué onda!', is very popular between young people. It means 'What's up?'.

In Mexico, there are beaches, mountains, deserts, volcanoes and forests. Usually the weather in Mexico is hot and humid. The rainy season is from May to October.

The most popular material for clothes is cotton. Traditionally, men wear trousers, a shirt or a t-shirt and sandals called 'huraches'. Women usually wear a skirt and a blouse. A sombrero is a well-known Mexican hat. People wear it to protect themselves from the sun.

A Traditional Mexican fiesta is a festival that celebrates a holiday, such as 'Cinco de Mayo'. People usually celebrate with fireworks, traditional clothing, music, dancing and food.

For thousands of years, Mexico's Indians were the only people who lived in Mexico. In the 15th Century, some people from Spain came to live on the same land. Later on, the land was named Mexico.
