Athletes competed in the first Olympic Games in Greece almost three thousand years ago in 776 BC. Every four years, people from Greek city-states travelled to a place called Olympia to watch the games, which continued until 393 AD. They lasted between one and five days, and only men were allowed to compete in the games. Many of the sports events were similar to those found in today's modern games where athletes run, jump and throw. The modern Olympic Games began with the creation of the International Olympic Committee (the IOC) in 1894 and Greece was the first country to hold the games, in the city of Athens, in 1896. Fourteen countries with 241 athletes competed in forty-three events. Although some people wanted to have the games in Athens every four years, the IOC decided to have them in different countries and cities. In 1900, they were held in Paris and women were allowed to compete in the games for the first time. The first Winter Olympic Games were held in 1924 and athletes competed in events such as skating and ice hockey. Over 200 countries now compete in the Summer Olympic Games. The number of events has increased to 300 events and instead of five days of competition, the games now last for seventeen days.

There are some problems, however. No Olympic games were held in 1916, 1940, and 1944 because of war. Also, some athletes use drugs to help them win. In addition, the games are very expensive. The 2014 Winter Games in Sochi, for example, cost $US50 billion. Nevertheless, the Olympic Games continue to be extremely popular all over the world.

- 1. What is the main idea of the article?
 - The Olympics have always been popular.

 - False
 - It doesn't say.
- 4. After the first Olympic Games in 776 BC, how long did they continue in Greece?
 - about one thousand years.
 - about two thousand years.
 - about three thousand years
- 5. In Paragraph 1, what does 'They' refer to?
 - men
 - the Olympic Games
 - Greek city-states
- 6. Where were the first modern Olympic Games held?
 - Athens
 - the IOC
 - in fourteen different countries

7. According to the article, what couldn't women do in the first Olympic Games?
- compete in the Olympics.
 - play hockey.
 - travel to different countries and cities
8. What was most special about the 1900 Olympics?
- Some people wanted the games to be in different places.
 - Women competed in the games.
 - They were held in Paris.
9. What does the article say about the use of drugs in the Olympics?
- It's a good thing.
 - It's a bad thing.
 - The article doesn't say.
10. In Paragraph 3, what does 'them' refer to?
- drugs
 - the games
 - athletes

1. I'd been training hard, and I was fitter than I had ever been. A month earlier I had won the silver medal in the 5,000 meters final in the European Championship and now I was ready to do better in the Olympic Games. I looked at the other runners. My most dangerous rivals were the Kenyans who are dominant in distant events. Nothing much happened in the first 3,000 metres, but then suddenly, I fell on the track. When I got up, the other athletes were already fifty or sixty metres ahead of me. I was sure I was going to lose the race but a voice in my head told me to not to give up. I began to run again. I could see myself on the giant screen. I could hear the live commentary on the loudspeakers. Now, I was only thirty metres behind the leaders. The crowd was cheering. With only two hundred metres to go I was fourth. Amazingly, twenty metres from the line I was in the lead. But then one of the Kenyans overtook me. I sprinted faster than I had ever done before. Suddenly, one of the supporters was throwing me a flag and I was crying with joy! I had won the gold medal in the Olympics. I looked at the scoreboard. I had set a new Olympic record too! Then an official told me I had to go for a drugs test I knew I was clean but I was still afraid that they might disqualify me. I needn't have worried. An hour later I was on the podium as my national anthem played. I was the Olympic champion.

Read about how students spend their free time.

Rashid: Saturday is my favourite day because I can do what I want. I spend threequarters of my free time outside. I like to play sports, but I usually don't have other people to play with. When I am alone, I ride my bike or go running. My friend spends ninety percent of his time inside. He likes to read a lot. When he comes outside, we play tennis or go for a walk, but he doesn't like to go running. When I am inside, I play computer games, but I prefer being outside.

Shamma: I spend most of my free time writing stories. Ninety percent of my stories are about animals. Before I write, I use the internet to learn about the animal. My last story was about a tiger who played tennis. Right now, I am writing about a lion. In my story, he wants to learn to speak like a mouse. Every day, he goes to Mouse Language School. After school, he spends time in the park to practice speaking with mice. I write about animals, but in my stories, they do things that people do.

Eman: I think I spend half of my free time inside and half outside. When I'm inside, I spend three-quarters of my time cooking. I like cooking for my family, and they like it too. The rest of the time, I spend reading and using the internet. When I'm outside, I like to work in the garden. Sometimes, I take a book outside with me so I can read in the garden. I also enjoy walking with my friends. We read the same books, so we like to walk and discuss what we read.

Read this email from Abdullah to Mostafa

Dear Mostafa,

I am writing to thank you for telling me to write a blog. I am very happy now because many people read my words every day. You told me to write about my favourite free time activity, so I am writing about sports. You know how much I like basketball, but I also write about football, volleyball, swimming, and cycling. Seventy percent of my blog is about playing sports. Twenty percent is about watching sports. And ten percent is stories I write about sports. My last story was about someone learning how to play basketball. It wasn't a true story, but my friends greatly liked it. I read that eighty percent of people spend twenty percent of their free time using the Internet. And most of those people like to read blogs about free time activities. Reading a blog tells them about the activity and the person who does it. When people read my blog, they learn about me and my life. Anyone who reads my blog knows that I like sports and I like writing, but they don't know that I also like cooking and painting. I think it would be fun to write about these things too. Maybe I will write three different blogs: one about cooking, one about painting, and one about sports.

I know that you don't like cooking, but you like eating. Will you read my cooking blog?

Your friend, Abdullah
