Part 3: Inference Question

Text

Salama's Celebration

Salama had always valued her special relationship with her close-knit family. However, in recent years, her teaching job had become much more demanding and changed this. I'm always looking after other people's children, she thought. I hardly have time to do anything for my own family! So, in order to bring her family closer, Salama decided to plan a traditional celebration.

She rang her mother, Fatima, to invite her. "We don't see you enough. You're always working!" said Fatima. "How about inviting more of the family? I know your eldest brother and grandparents would love to see you." As she thought about her brothers, she started to feel sad. She thought about how they were all living in another country when they grew up. Her twin brother, Salim, had stayed in Kuwait when the rest of the family moved to the UAE. Over time, they'd lost touch.

"Do you hear much from Salim?" Salama asked her mother hopefully.

"No," Fatima replied. "He is so busy with his job, all his many friends and his children that we rarely speak to him." Fatima saw how sad Salama looked after the conversation, so she started to come up with a plan.

Soon, most of the family were talking about the event. On the day of the celebration, Salama's home was full of activity. The smell of traditional dishes filled the air, which stirred memories of her childhood with her brothers. Salama remembered helping her mother in the kitchen with Salim. It was a little hard, and a bit messy, but still such fun! she thought. Her happiness turned to sadness as she remembered that her twin would not be there to share the delicious food they had prepared that day.

As the sun was setting that evening, the family came together. The occasion was a moment of relaxation for them all, and they all took the chance to tell stories of their culture and customs. Salama found them so enjoyable that she didn't want the night to end. However, Fatima seemed anxious. She had spent the whole evening watching the window. The delivery of a beautiful cake cheered her up, but only for a moment. She was looking outside again when, suddenly, there was another knock at the door.

"Who could that be?" asked Salama with surprise, while Fatima smiled with happiness.

Write your answer below. Use full sentences.

Why was Fatima pleased to hear a knock at the door?
