Unit 7

Dear [Recipient],

Starting a business can be exciting and rewarding. Here are some simple steps to get you started.

Firstly, it's crucial to choose a business idea that you're passionate about and that fills a need in the market. This could be a product or a service.

Next, create a solid business plan outlining your goals, target market, and how you'll make money. This plan will be your roadmap for success.

Then, register your business and choose a legal structure, such as sole proprietorship, partnership, or corporation. This step is important for tax and liability purposes.

After that, secure funding to cover your startup costs. This could be through savings, loans, or investors.

Finally, market your business to attract customers. Utilize social media, networking, and advertising to spread the word about your products or services.

By following these steps and staying dedicated, you can turn your business idea into a reality. Good luck!

Sincerely,
[Your Name]

Unit 7.B

Dear [Recipient],

Starting a business is fun!

First, think of something you love to do and find a way to sell it.

Next, make a plan that says how you'll do it and who you want to sell to.

Then, tell the government you're starting a business and pick how you want it to be seen.

After that, get some money to start with, like from your own savings or asking others.

Finally, tell everyone about your business using social media, talking to people, and maybe ads.

You can do it! Good luck!

From,
[Your Name]

This report looks at how kids use technology after school. It talks about the pros and cons of it.

Learning tech students more with online lessons and study stuff. Students and teachers can chat easily using email or messages to ask questions or work together. Using tech helps kids get better at using computers and stuff, which helps later in jobs.

However, sometimes, tech is too much fun, and kids forget to do homework or other important things. Too much time on screens can make eyes tired and cause problems like back pain or feeling lonely.

Kids can find the wrong stuff online, which can mess up their learning.

Tech is good for learning, but kids need to be careful not to use it too much or believe everything they see. It's about finding a balance.

Unit 9

Cyberbullying:

Introduction:

Today, online bullying is a big worry. This article talks about three main problems it causes.

First, Hurting Feelings:

Online bullying makes people feel bad. It causes stress, worry, and feeling alone.

Second, School Troubles:

Bullied kids find it hard to focus on school. They don't do as well in their classes. They also avoid fun things and asking for help.

Third, Lasting Problems:

Online bullying's effects stick around. It can hurt someone's chances later in life. It can even make them feel like hurting themselves.

In Conclusion,

Online bullying is a serious issue. It makes people feel bad, do poorly in school, and harms their future. We need to stop it fast.

Unit 10

Discovering Cultural Symbols: A Journey of Understanding

Cultural symbols are like special signs that tell stories about different groups of people. They can be things like flags or traditional clothes that show what a community believes in and cares about.

When I was young, I loved looking at all the different cultural symbols around me. Whether it was the pretty designs on brides' hands at Indian weddings or the colorful dragons in Chinese celebrations, each symbol showed me something unique about people's traditions and who they are.

As I learned more about these symbols, I saw they were more than just pretty pictures. They bring people together and help them feel like they belong. Whether it's the rings of the Olympics showing unity or the phoenix representing strength in stories, these symbols show feelings and experiences we all share.

In today's world, understanding cultural symbols is super important. It helps us respect each other's differences and learn from one another. So let's explore together and discover the cool stories behind these symbols that make our world so interesting.
