Model 1

Dear Editor,

I am writing to ask for support in protecting an endangered animal, the axolotl. It lives in Mexico now, but scientists believe that it could be extinct within ten years. However, it isn't as attractive as other endangered animals.

In my opinion the axolotl has an incredible ability: if it loses a part of its body, it can grow it back. That's why scientists are studying the axolotl because they want to learn how its cells can do this.

This research might lead scientists to help humans with damaged body parts.

Another interesting fact about the axolotl is that it never becomes an adult. For this reason, scientists believe that we can find out about the secret of ageing from the axolotl.

I think there is also a cultural reason to save the axolotl. This creature was very important in Aztec legends. That's why we must save it.

For all of the above reasons, I strongly believe that we should do everything we can to save this amazing creature. Thank you for your attention,

Ali Hasan

Dear Editor,

I am writing to ask for support in protecting an endangered animal, the dugong or the “sea cow”. It lives near the beaches of Hawar islands now, but scientists believe that it could be extinct in the next few years. However, it isn’t as attractive as other endangered animals.

In my opinion, the dugong contributes to the diversity of the sea creatures on the coast of Bahrain. Scientists are studying them because they want to save them, to keep the sea ecosystem intact.

Another interesting fact about the dugong is that they have provided valuable products in terms of meat, oil, and fat to the Bahraini people in the past. For this reason, they are a big part of our past.

I think there is also a cultural reason to save the dugong. They were once the subject of sea tales dealing with mermaids. Therefore, if the dugong becomes extinct, an important link with Arabian gulf culture will be lost forever.

For all of the above reasons, I strongly believe that we should do everything we can to save this amazing creature. Thank you for your attention,

Ahmed Mohamed

Unit 6 “ Letter of complaint”

You spent the weekend at one of the hotels in Bahrain and you noticed that large quantities of water were being wasted. Write a letter of complaint to the hotel manager in 110-130 words. you should follow the following plan: -

Ø The introductory paragraph: The reason why you are writing

Ø The next two paragraphs: Description of the problem and facts. Information of how human activities contribute to the problem (at least three reasons)

Ø The final paragraph: What you want to be done about the problem (recommendation)

A letter of complaint ‘ Water waste’

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing this letter to bring to your attention the problem of wasting water I have recently seen during my stay in the hotel. It is due to the irresponsible usage of the taps in the restrooms, swimming pools, and restaurants, maybe even in the rooms. Also, many of these taps are in need of repair and maintenance.

Running taps contribute to the shortage of water. According to a newspaper report, the amount of water wasted in this way could very well serve the needs of a large number of people.

People are not aware of the importance of water. Furthermore, the hotel management is not providing regular maintenance of the taps.

For these reasons, I believe we must do everything we can to save this precious natural resource. Thank you for your attention.

Best regards,

Donna

A letter of complaint ‘ Pollution ’

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to complain about the amount of pollution and damage people are causing earth. which in turn leads to global warming and other destructions.

As a result of burning fossil fuels, more gases are released into the air. This problem is worrying, knowing that thousands of forests are being cut down.

It's very important to consider that global warming increases the average temperature of the earth's atmosphere because it increases the heat coming from the sun and the earth itself. Also, cutting down forests leads to having fewer trees that help intake these harmful gases out of the air.

For these reasons, it is important for people to take action now on global warming. I believe it's important to do everything possible to reduce man-made pollution.

Thank you for your kind attention.

Best regards

Mona Adel

A letter of complaint ‘ Food waste’

Dear Manager,

I am writing to bring to your attention the amount of food that your restaurant wastes every day because the portions you serve are too big. As a result, very few people can finish them, and lots of food goes in the bin. This is particularly worrying when we know that, according to some reports, we waste 1.3 billion tons of food every year.

Also, the chemicals that come out of the food harm our soil and bodies of water. In my science class, we learnt about all the natural resources that go into making food. Farmers use a lot of water to grow plants that make food. A lot of energy is used to transport food from the field to restaurants. That's why when we waste this food, we waste our planet's natural resources.

For these reasons, I believe you will do everything possible to reduce food waste in your restaurant.

Thank you for your attention.

Best regards,

Ali Hasan

Process essay ‘ Painting murals’

HOW TO PAINT A MURAL IN YOUR AREA

Do you ever wish that you could make your neighborhood more exciting, more interesting, or just more beautiful? One simple way to change a place is to create a piece of public art. In this essay, I’m going to explain how you can paint a mural on a wall in your school.

First, you should decide what the subject of your mural will be. Think of something interesting that will have a positive effect on people. Second, choose your location. If you want people to see your mural, look for a place that a lot of people pass through each day. Then, of course, you’ll need to get permission from the school head teacher.

Next, contact local neighborhood groups, schools, charities and businesses. Ask them for ideas about what they want to see as they will be affected by this mural. They might offer to give you materials, or even help you with the work. After that, you need to make a plan for your painting. Sketch out your design and decide what materials you’ll need. Think about the colours and shapes you want to use.

Finally, paint your mural! When it’s finished, invite people from your local community to view it. Take lots of photographs, and share this new piece of public art on social media.

In conclusion, follow these easy steps to create a beautiful mural in your area. It’s a great way to make your neighbourhood involved in making public art and for you to be creative.

Narrative essay “ Survival story” “ Model 1”

AN INCREDIBLE STORY OF SURVIVAL

Aron Ralston is a very experienced climber and hiker. He has been climbing, skiing and hiking since he was a young boy. The mistake Aron made on 26th April 2003, nearly cost him his life.

Aron was hiking through Utah’s Bluejohn Canyon when he fell down a narrow canyon. His right arm got trapped behind a rock. He tried to escape, but the rock was too big and too heavy. Aron was stuck in the canyon for five and a half days. He was hungry, thirsty and very tired. He wanted to cut off his arm because that was the only way to escape. On his sixth day in the canyon, he managed to break his arm and then cut it off with the small knife he had. He hiked out of the canyon and finally saw other people. They called the emergency services, and a helicopter took him to the hospital.

Aron lost his arm, but he’s happy to be alive. He still climbs and hikes regularly. He knows that he made a mistake when he didn’t tell anyone about his plans. Now he makes sure he tells others when he’s going on an adventure. He also gives talks around the world about his experience to help others learn from his mistake

AN INCREDIBLE STORY OF SURVIVAL

John Smith is a great adventurer. He has been traveling across the sea, all his life. After their ship was crushed by pack ice, his crew abandoned the ship and planned to cross Antarctica on foot. Their aim became only to survive. Over two years, John led the crew across ice floes, then in lifeboats to camp on an island where they stayed for six months. They lived on seal meat and blubber only.

On July 15th 2006, he made a choice that could have cost him his life. John took five men around the island to the north of Antarctica and then across 800 miles of fearsome ocean to the South Island. He then hiked with two others for 36 hours across the island’s unknown interior in a horrible situation, where he was injured by a huge rock that fell on his leg, and caused severe bleeding. He walked through the icy storm, with no food to eat except raw fish that he caught in those frozen waters. Then survived another three months before he could safely reach the crew left on the other Island. They managed to call the emergency service which came to rescue them with a helicopter, and took him to the hospital.

John had suffered, starved, and triumphed. He crawled down on all four yet grasped at glory. His bravery helped him survive this horrible accident. It is very important to prepare wisely for a journey and never travel alone or separate from the group you are with.
