Unit 6: A persuasive letter layout

Write a Persuasive letter in 110-130 words by choosing another unusual, endangered animal. Persuade your readers to protect it.

1. Introduction

- In your introduction, introduce the topic of the letter:

2. State your point of view:

- Give reasons to persuade the reader (at least three).

3. Conclusion

- Summarise your opinion.

Dear Editor,

I am writing to you today to ask for your help in protecting the Arabian Oryx from extinction. This attractive animal is now considered endangered. If we do not act quickly, we may lose this beautiful creature forever.

The Arabian Oryx is a symbol of the Middle East and has played an important role in the region's history and culture. However, due to habitat loss, hunting, and other human activities, their population has reduced over the years.

I am reaching out to you because I believe that together, we can make a difference. By raising awareness about these animals and donating to wildlife conservation efforts, we can make sure that the Arabian Oryx survives.

I believe that we should do everything to save the Arabian Oryx from extinction. Together, we can make a difference. Thank you for your attention.

Sincerely,

Hana Ali

Unit 6: A complaint letter layout

1. Introduction (Opening Remarks)

- The reason why you are writing.

2. Main Body

- Description of the problem and facts.
- Information of how human activities contribute to the problem.

3. Conclusion (Closing Remarks)

- What you want to be done about the problem.

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to bring to your attention the issue of water wastage at your hotel. Many guests are leaving taps running in the restrooms, swimming pools, and restaurants, causing significant wastage of water. This problem is worsened by the fact that many taps need repair and maintenance.

Wasted water contributes to a shortage of this essential natural resource, and according to a newspaper report, the amount of water being wasted could serve the needs of many people. I kindly request that you take immediate action to address this issue, as many people are not aware of the importance of conserving water.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Best regards,

Donna

Unit 7: A Process Essay

how to create a piece of public art

Imagine you are going to create a piece of public art in your school or community.

Explain how you will create it in 110-130 words. Include the following:

- an introduction of how to paint a wall
- a paragraph that describes details of the steps to paint a wall.
- use word phrases and link words to connect sentences.
- a conclusion that includes your overall opinion

Murals can be created on different surfaces to make a place more exciting. They often have a message or theme. To create a public art piece in your school, there are many steps you should follow.

First, prepare the wall, use the grid method to scale the design. Second, create an outline. Then, sketch imagery and add details with light and bright colors. Finally, apply a protective seal coat. However, outdoor murals may require special gadgets and durable paint.

In conclusion, painting murals is easy with accurate guidelines and techniques. It's a beautiful way to express thoughts and ideas, represent history, and create landmarks for tourism and artists.

Unit 8: a narrative essay

Write a true story about survival in 110-130 words. It could be about yourself, someone you know or a famous person. Write a strong concluding paragraph.

John Smith is an adventurer who has traveled by sea all his life.

In 2006, his ship was crushed by ice and he led his crew across ice and in lifeboats to an island. There, they survived for six months on seal meat. Despite the dangers, he led a risky journey across 800 miles of ocean and hiked 36 hours across an unknown island, where he was injured by a falling rock. He survived eating raw fish and faced an icy storm for three months before being rescued.

John's bravery helped him survive, but it's important to prepare wisely and never travel alone or separate from your group.
