The Most Exciting Holiday of My Life

Last summer my parents took me to visit my aunt and uncle in Toronto, Canada. The flight took 7 hours. When we arrived, my aunt and uncle were there to meet us. It was wonderful to see them again.

The next morning my uncle said that he was going to take us to see Niagara Falls, one of the biggest waterfalls in the world. It was amazing. I was taking pictures with my new camera when all of a sudden I saw a boat at the bottom of the falls. I watched in horror as it disappeared into the mist under the falls. I told my uncle to get help. I was sure that the boat was going to sink.

My uncle laughed and told me that the boat trip was for tourists and it was perfectly safe. Then he pulled five tickets to Maid of the Mist out of his pockets. "Come on," he said "we're on the next boat."

An Exciting Adventure

I had the most exciting experience of my life last month when I went on a picnic with my friends, Tom and Mark.

When we got into the car everything seemed to be perfect, but soon the car broke down. Luckily, Tom fixed it and we set off again. At the beginning of the journey the weather was good, but then it started to rain heavily. When we arrived at the woods, it stopped raining but we realised that we had forgotten to bring a blanket. We sat on the wet grass. Then, while we were having a picnic near the river, we saw a bear. We were terrified. Fortunately, the bear didn't see us. As soon as the bear went away we breathed a sigh of relief.

We all went home exhausted. It was an exciting adventure I will never forget.

Dear Ms Marsaud,

I am writing to apply for the position of Chef which I saw advertised in Tuesday's edition of the Daily Star.

I am a twenty-five year old chef. I speak fluent French. At the moment, I am working at a small French restaurant in Oxford. Before that I worked as a chef at the Ritz Hotel. I worked there for three years. I am creative and energetic, as well as reliable.

I hope that you will consider me for the position. I am able to attend an interview at any time.

Yours sincerely,

Paul Smith

Dear Julie,

Thanks for your recent letter. I'm sorry to hear that you're having trouble losing weight. I'm writing because I have a few suggestions that might help you.

First of all, you could try leaving your car at home and walking to work. This would be good exercise and you'd also burn off calories. Also, I suggest that you eat plenty of fruit and vegetables and less junk food. In addition, you could join a fitness club or even take up a sport. This way you'd lose weight and also feel much healthier.

Well, I hope that my advice helps you. Write back soon and tell me if these ideas work. I'm sure they will!

Love,

Katie

Dear Susan,

I've just got your letter and decided to write straight away. I know exactly how you feel. When I moved to the city last year, I felt very lonely. Don't worry though. There are several things you can do.

Firstly, why don't you join some local clubs? There are lots of hiking clubs in that area and I know you love walking. That way, you will meet other people who enjoy doing the same kinds of things. It would also be a good idea to join a drama group. If you do this, you will become more confident and you'll also make new friends.

I hope I've been of some help. Write soon and let me know how things are going.

Take care,

Kate

- an advert asking for a Part-time Sales
- Assistant and you want to apply for the job.
- Write your letter.

Dear Sir/Madam,

I would like to apply for the position of Part-time Sales Assistant which I saw advertised in the 'Guardian'.

I am a seventeen-year-old student. I have ten GCSEs including Maths and English. At the moment I am studying for my 'A' Levels.

I have no actual work experience. However, I would enjoy working with the public as I like meeting people. I am friendly and polite as well as responsible and hardworking, so I think I am suitable for the post.

I hope you will consider me for the position. I am able to attend an interview at any time.

Yours faithfully,

Dear Helen,

Hi! Thanks for your letter. I'm glad you like Cambridge.

My city, Moscow, is a beautiful place situated in the west of Russia. There are tall blocks of flats, wonderful shops and huge shopping centres. The people are very friendly. I love walking along the busy city streets. It is easy to get around Moscow because there is a metro and bus service as well as trolleys and trams. Of course, like most large cities, Moscow has its problems. It can be noisy with heavy traffic. However, I love the hustle and bustle of the city.

I love living in Moscow. There are lots of things to do there. There are lots of theatres, museums and restaurants. What I enjoy the most, though, is going to Moscow Zoo. It is over 100 years old.

I guess I could talk about Moscow for days. Why don't you come and visit me and see my city for yourself? Write back soon!

Love,

Olga

Dear Mary,

How are you? I thought you'd be interested to know that I am in Costa Rica, and I'm helping the environment!

I've joined a project to save the sea turtle. Sea turtles are an endangered species and they need our protection. We make sure that the turtles breed and that their babies survive.

We work in small groups doing a variety of tasks. We watch the turtles and protect them from hunters. We also patrol the beach to make sure that the turtles are safe. We gather their eggs from the nests and take them to a special hatchery. We then release the baby turtles into the ocean.

I'm having a wonderful time here in Costa Rica. I am staying with a local family and experiencing life in a tiny seaside village. I eat local dishes and I am also learning about local customs and traditions.

You should come and visit me here. It's a beautiful place. Write soon.

Love,

Clare

(Suggested Answer) A Day to Remember

Last Friday afternoon, Tony came home from school and walked into the kitchen. It was a cold winter's day and he was looking forward to a hot meal.

He saw that the dinner was cooking on the stove. It smelled delicious so he took a tea towel and a spoon and lifted the lids off the pans to have a little taste. It tasted as good as it smelt. He had some homework to do so he sat down at the table to start it.

While Tony wasn't looking, the tea towel he had left on the stove caught fire. He turned around as soon as he smelt something burning, but the fire was spreading to the curtains. Tony panicked and started yelling for his dad. Tony's dad burst into the kitchen, grabbed the fire extinguisher off the wall and quickly put out the flames.

An hour later, Tony and his dad sat down in a restaurant. They felt happy and relieved. A disaster had been averted and now they could eat a delicious hot meal.

Dear Jo,

Thanks for your letter. Sorry that I haven't written for ages, but I've been busy studying.

In your last letter you asked me about my neighbour. Her name is Ruth and she is very good-looking. She's got short blonde hair and she's tall and slim. The first thing you notice about her is her warm smile. She likes wearing casual clothes and she usually wears jeans, trainers and a T-shirt.

Ruth is friendly, sociable and kind. She loves chatting to her friends on the phone. She is very sporty, too. She plays volleyball and table tennis. Her best quality is her sense of humour. She always makes me laugh.

Ruth is a great neighbour and a good friend. I always have fun with her.

Well, that's all for now. What about your neighbours? What are they like? Tell me about them. Write back soon.

Love,

Sarah
