C- Read the text carefully.

Do you think it will rain tomorrow? Will it be cold or sunny? In many places, people regularly listen to the weather reports because they want to wear appropriate clothing for the weather. But the weather can mean more than changes in clothing. Studies show that the weather definitely affects people's moods: it changes the way people feel.

Rainy, cloudy, or grey weather can have a negative effect on people. In Poland, scientists studied the effects of weather on the building industry. They found that the number of accidents on building sites increased when the weather was bad.

Years ago in England, when the London fog came up and it was dark outside the entire day, the Bank in England put away its most important papers and files. The Bank noticed that bank employees made a lot of mistakes because of the bad weather.

In recent years, scientists have found a new illness. They call it seasonal affective disorder. People with this illness get very sad and depressed during the long dark days of winter when there is little sunlight. But there is a cure. When people with the illness sit under a sunlamp for some time every day, they will usually feel better.

So next time you're sad or feel strange, maybe you can blame it on the weather.

A- Now circle the best answer:

- 1- According to the passage, the weather -----
 - a- is always nice in Poland.
 - b- is often wet in many countries.
 - c- sometimes has a bad effect on people.
- 2- Scientists found that the number of accidents on building sites increased-----
 - a- because of the bad weather.
 - b- because workers worked long hours.
 - c- because of the London fog.
- 3- The bank employees made a lot of mistakes in England year ago because -----
 - a- they were tired.
 - b- of the bad weather.
 - c- they were unhappy.
- 4- Scientists discovered a new illness that made people ----- in winter.
 - a- sad
 - b- tired
 - c- active

- 5- To cure the new illness sit under a sunlamp ----- .
- a- a few times a week
 - b- every day
 - c- from time to time

(5x2 = 10 marks)
