C- Read the text carefully.

How do you spell?

Spelling English words isn't easy, but a boy in Indiana, USA, set a very difficult goal for himself. Thirteen -year -old Sameer Mishra wanted to become the best speller in the whole country and win the National Spelling Bee.

A spelling bee is a spelling contest for elementary school in the United States. In a spelling bee, students stand in a line and spell words that the teacher pronounces. If they make a mistake, they sit down. The last student who is standing is the winner. Every year, there are big spelling bees for cities and states. The winners go to the National Spelling Bee in Washington D.C.

This year, 288 students from the United States, Canada and other English speaking countries entered the National Spelling Bee. In the contest, students have to spell very long, difficult and unusual words from a very large dictionary. Students spend months, or years, preparing. Sameer spent at least four hours every day learning new words. He studied 23 pages of the dictionary each day, and his sister helped him practice. He was sponsored by his hometown newspaper, the Journal & Courier.

The final night of the National Spelling Bee was on TV. The students spelled 24 of the first 25 words correctly, including words like brankursine, cryptarithm, and empyrean. Then they started making mistakes. Finally, there were only two students in the contest: Sameer and a boy named Sidharth Chand. Sidharth made a mistake in the word prosopopoeia. To win, Sameer had to spell one more word correctly: guerdon. Sameer correctly spelled out "g-u-e-r-d-o-n" and became the best speller in America. (What does guerdon mean? A reward.)

Sameer won $40,000 to pay for his university education – he hopes to become a doctor. He has many other interests besides spelling. He plays the violin and enjoys video games. His parents who moved to the United States from central India are very proud of him. His father teaches microbiology "I told my mom I was going to do the bee," Sameer said. "And if I was going to do it, I was going to win it one day. And I guess it happened."

Listening Tapescripts

There are two questions in this listening exam , A &B. You must answer them both.

Listening A

You have one minute to read the questions.

Pause for one minute

You will hear Steve and Caroline talking about their plans for the summer. For questions 1-6, circle the right answer. You will hear the conversation twice.

Caroline: What are you going to do this summer?

Steve: Well, I'm probably going to go on holiday with my parents and my sister for a week, but I suppose I really should get a summer job. I haven't planned anything yet , but I really need to get some money. What about you?

Caroline: I'm flying to Scotland for the summer, I'm going for seven weeks. I am going to work in a youth hostel in the mountains.

Steve: Really? That sounds great!

Caroline: Yes, I think so. I mean, the work won't be very interesting. It'll be mostly cooking, cleaning and working on reception, selling food and things. But my hours are seven till ten in the morning and five till nine in the evening, so I'll have plenty of time during the day to go walking.

Steve: That sounds fun! It will be like a holiday, but you'll be earning money too.

Caroline: Yes, it's a chance to get out of the city and maybe meet some new people.

Steve: I wish I could get a job like that. How did you find out about it?

Caroline: I read about it in "Summer Work Round Britain". It tells you about all kinds of different jobs in different places. You can work at farms picking fruit, or at hotels near the sea. You can even get work at music festivals..But .. You Know ...The problem with that sort of work is that once you've paid for your accommodation and food, you won't have much money left.

Steve: Oh yes, I didn't think about that. And knowing me, I'd spend all my extra money on music. So do you have to pay for your accommodation and food in Scotland then?

Caroline: Well, it's quite good. I'll be staying in a shared bedroom, and they'll take £ 15 a week out of my wages to pay for that. My breakfast will be free, because I'll probably be cooking breakfast for the guests! I can get dinner in the evening at a reduced price, so I only have to worry about lunch.

Steve: Well, I hope you have a great time.

Caroline: Thanks. I'll lend you the book if you like. Maybe you'll find something too.

Listening B

You have one minute to read the questions.

Pause for one minute

You will hear a TV announcement about a film making competition. For each question, fill in the missing information in the numbered spaces.

If you want to make films then you'll be interested in our new competition.

If you're between 11 and 18 you can enter this year's Film-making competition. The film should last no more than 12 minutes and you should have at least three main characters. Last year's winner had 8 people in it but we don't usually expect so many!

This is the third year of the competition. In previous years, we accepted any type of film, from horror to comedy, but this year we are looking for a drama. There'll be another competition later in the year for people interested in making documentaries. We have seen some great films over the years from very exciting young film-makers.

Last year's films were about The Family, and we saw some wonderful entries. This year, however, we want films about the weather – it can either be about how it makes you feel or how it can change a day. A challenging topic!

The judges this year are Martha Fernando, presenter of our film programme, 'Film World', and author of a book about careers in filmmaking called 'Film Life', and the director Mark Matthews, whose latest film 'Night' is now in cinemas.

There are some fantastic prizes. Our first prize winner will visit London International Academy, one of the top film schools. We have other prizes to give away – there are 100 books and also some of the latest cameras to win.

You can send your films to us by post or bring them to our offices in the Market Square. The judges decision is final. You'll have the chance to see the best films when they are shown at the Town Hall.
