C) Reading Comprehension4) Read the following passage and answer the questions below:

Dolphins have become a popular attraction at zoos nowadays. They are the most attractive animals because they perform their tricks like circus animals. They are very cooperative with their trainer but if they are asked to do the same trick more than once, they get bored. This is one reason for believing that they are very intelligent.

Dolphins are considered the friendliest creatures in the sea. Since the Romans, there have been common stories about dolphins helping drowning sailors. Now we have more reliable evidence of their usefulness than sailors' tales. In South Africa two dolphins have been trained to help swimmers in difficulties and drive sharks away from the beach. The more we learn about dolphins the more we realize that they are better organized and their society is more complex than people previously thought. They look after other dolphins when they are ill, care for pregnant mothers and protect the weakest, as we do. Some scientists have suggested that dolphins have a complicated system of sounds such as whistles. This sound system is known to be particularly useful at night or in the dark waters.

The Novel

Comment

① Charles Darnay to the officer when he ordered citizen Defarge to take the prisoner (Charles) to the prison "La Force". Charles tried to defend himself but the officer told him that he had no rights. Darnay asked under what law and what guilt he would be sent to prison.

② Madame Defarge to Monsieur Defarge when they were speaking to the Jacques about her family. They asked her why she wanted to destroy the Charles's family. She explained that the family mentioned in Dr Manette's story was her own family. She was the only member surviving member of the poor unhappy family. Sydney Carton was hearing her speech and he could feel how angry she was without looking at her. Defarge added a few words about the memory of the compassionate wife of the marquis but his wife only repeated her last answer "Tell the wind ---".

2016, 1-11-18

③ Lucie to her husband (Charles) when Lucie and Charles returned home, their first visitor was Sydney Carton. He had come to congratulate them. He apologized to Charles for being rude on the night after the trial. He told Darnay that he wished they might be friends. Charles told his wife that he is careless and reckless but Lucie begged him to show some respect and consideration to Sydney, whom she believed to be a miserable creature with a heart full of wounds.

1 - How did Darnay defend himself in the court? He said that he was a free citizen who came to Paris on his free will to save the life of a friend and he introduced Gabelle's letter.

2 - In the first trial and why Sydney switched places with Carton. He sacrificed and offering his head to the guillotine instead of Charles' head.

3 - Despite his love to Lucie and her father he refused to lodge the wife of an emigrant in the bank's property as he didn't want to get the bank involved in any kind of trouble.

The Reader

4 - He was greatly shocked. Darnay must have told him something that had given him a great shock. He lost his mind and memory. He remembered nothing except his old days when he used to work as a shoemaker. He did not remember any thing about his present and couldn't recognize his old friend Mr Lorry or Miss.

Poetry

① The poet asks the wind to blow hard. He says that the cold, strong biting wind is much kinder than an ungrateful friend. He says that most friendship is false and deceiving and being is just foolishness. The poet invites people to come back to nature, where life is so simple and pleasant. There is nothing to worry about or fight for.

② The poet says that however painful and harmful the weather conditions were they are so kind if compared with the ungratefulness of people near and dear to us. The wind, rain, cold are smaller evils if compared to the great illness in the heart caused by a brother or other relatives.
