Hi Anne,

Thanks for your e-mail. I'm sorry I couldn't reply earlier, as an unexpected thing happened to me a few days ago.

I'd just got home from the hospital, where I'd been working all night in the Emergency Room. I then went to sleep immediately but suddenly at about ten-thirty, I was woken up by the sound of the phone ringing. At first, I didn't get up- I was so tired! Finally, when it rang for the 20th time, I got up and answered it. It was my sister telling me that a forest fire was moving rapidly in the direction of my house!

I rushed outside and saw that the fire was only one hundred meters away! Luckily, the firemen saw me and quickly took me to safety. I wasn't injured at all, but now my house is completely destroyed.

Lots of love,

Kathy

TEXT

Hi Kathy,

It was good of you to write to me, despite all that has happened to you!

I was so sorry to hear about the fire destroying your house. I hope things are getting better now. You didn't actually say where you are staying now, but another friend told me you have a room in a hotel. But if you'd like to stay at my house, you're very welcome, anytime. Or if there is anything else I can do, please let me know.

I know you didn't have much time, but you didn't mention your family. Are they all ok? Were any of them injured in the fire? Please write to me soon and let me know.

Very best wishes,

Anne

Miley Ray Cyrus was born on November 23, 1992. She is an American actress and singer. She achieved wide fame for her role as Miley Stewart/Hannah Montana on the Disney Channel sitcom Hannah Montana.

Cyrus recorded music for the soundtracks, Hannah Montana (2006) and Hannah Montana 2: Meet Miley Cyrus (2007), released by Walt Disney Records. With the success of the Hannah Montana franchise she established herself as a teen idol. In 2007, Cyrus signed to Hollywood Records to pursue a solo career. She embarked upon the Best of Both Worlds Tour the same year, in which she performed as both herself and in character as Hannah Montana. The tour was eventually turned into a high-grossing concert film titled Hannah Montana & Miley Cyrus: Best of Both Worlds Concert (2008). In July 2008, Cyrus released her first solo album, Breakout (2008), which was commercially successful.

She began her foray into film by providing the voice of Penny in the animated film Bolt (2008). Cyrus earned a nomination for the Golden Globe Award for Best Original Song for her performance of Bolt's theme song, "I Thought I Lost You". She also reprised her role as Miley Stewart/Hannah Montana in Hannah Montana: The Movie (2009). The Hannah Montana: The Movie' soundtrack introduced her to new audiences within country and adult contemporary markets.

She began to cultivate an adult image in 2009 with the release of The Time of Our Lives (2009), an extended play which presented a more mainstream pop sound, and by filming The Last Song (2010), a coming-of-age drama film. The former included Cyrus's best-selling single, "Party in the U.S.A." (2009). A studio album titled Can't Be Tamed was released in 2010 and presents a new dance-pop sound. The music video and lyrics of the album's lead single, "Can't Be Tamed", portrays a more sexualized image for the entertainer. Cyrus ranked number thirteen on Forbes' 2010 Celebrity 100.<sup>[3]</sup> For the 2011 Guinness World Records, she was named the "Most Charted Teenager" following her 29th US Billboard Hot 100 chart entry on November 7, 2009 with "Party in the USA".

READING

Read the text. Then, complete the task.

'Cinderella' is a classic fairy-tale with a happy ending. The basic story has been known for centuries, but has not changed a lot in that time. It's about a pretty girl whose mother dies. Her father re-marries and his new wife, who has two daughters of her own, mistreats Cinderella and forces her to do all the house work. However, Cinderella gets help from a friend and finally she falls in love gets married and lives happily ever after.

The first known version of the story was written in China by Tuan Ch'ing-Shih in 850 AD. In his story, Cinderella's only friend is a talking gold fish. Seeing that she is sad and lonely, the fish promises to give her whatever she asks for. So, when she hears that a prince is holding a big party, she asks for a silk dress and gold shoes, so she can attend. In the end, she succeeds in marrying the prince. The stepmother is very angry, catches the fish and cooks it for lunch. But then she and her two daughters die in a rain storm. In a Japanese version of the story, written in 1145, their punishment is even worse- they are blinded and spend the rest of their lives in prison!

In the 17th century, the French writer and collector of old stories, Charles Perrault, wrote a new version. This time, it's a kind old woman who helps Cinderella, providing her with a beautiful dress and shoes made of glass. Cinderella then goes to the party and meets the prince, but as she leaves in a hurry, she loses one of her shoes. Luckily the shoe fits only Cinderella and no one else – certainly not her two fat, ugly stepsisters! So the prince's servants are able to identify her. In Perrault's story, however, Cinderella forgives the whole family and they all live together 'happily ever after' of course in the palace.

Since then, other authors, including the famous Grimm brothers from Germany, have written their own version of 'Cinderella'. However, it is still Perrault's version which is the most widely read and loved by children.

In India, people celebrate the festival of Holi (pronounced “hoh-lee”) in March. This festival occurs after the wheat harvest. Wheat is used to make many important foods in India. Holi celebrates the victory of good over evil.

Holi is a very bright celebration. People light bonfires, tell stories, and cover each other in a variety of colored powders. These powders are called gulal (pronounced “goo-lahl”). People are then sprayed with water, and everyone becomes a beautiful, brightly colored mess.
