Finishing school in the USA

School students in America celebrate leaving school with a school prom. It's important because it's the end of school and the start of adult life. All of the students usually wear smart clothes and there's music and dancing. Sometimes, the students may choose a prom king and queen-one boy and one girl from the year.

Becoming an adult in China

In China, you might have a traditional celebration when you grow up. This celebration dates back to Ancient China. People wear colourful, traditional clothes and girls wear their hair up with special hair clips, which are made of gold or wood. It's important because after the celebration the person is an adult and not a child any more.
