Reading

1. What is a bad habit? The most common definition is that it is something that we do regularly, almost without thinking about it, and which has some sort of negative consequence. This consequence could affect those around us, or it could affect us personally. Those who deny having bad habits are probably lying. Bad habits are part of what makes us human.

2. Many early habits, like sucking our thumb, are broken when we are very young. We are either told to stop doing it by our parents, or we consciously or subconsciously observe that others do not have the same habit, and we gradually grow out of it. It is when we intentionally or unintentionally pick up new habits in our later childhood or early adulthood that it becomes a problem. Unless we can break that habit early on, it becomes “programmed” into our brain and a part of our life.

3. A recent study of human memory suggests that no matter how hard we try to change our habits, it is the old ways that tend to prevail, especially in situations where we are rushed, stressed or overworked. Habits that we thought we had got rid of can suddenly come back. During the study programme, the researchers showed a group of volunteers several pictures and gave them words associate with them (for example see a picture of tea and associate it with ‘breakfast’). They then showed the volunteers the same pictures again and gave them new words to associate with them (see a picture of tea and say ‘afternoon’).

4. A few days later, the volunteers were given a test. The researchers showed them the pictures and told them to respond with one of the words they had been given for each one. It came as no surprise that their answers were spilt between the first set of words and the second. Two weeks later, they were given the same test again. This time, most of them only gave the first set of words. They appeared to have completely forgotten the second set.

5. The study confirm that the responses we learn first are those that remain strongest over time. We may try to change our ways, but after a while, the response that comes to mind first is usually the first one we learned. The more that response is used, the more automatic it becomes and the harder it becomes to respond in any other way.

1- What is the text MAINLY about?

- a. bad habits that people are not aware of
- b. bad habits that are extremely hard to break
- c. bad habits that most people would like to break
- d. bad habits that people pick up when they grow up

2- Read the following from paragraph 3.

“A recent study of human memory suggests that no matter how hard we try to change our habits, it is the old ways that tend to prevail ...”

What does the underlined word “prevail” most likely mean?

- a. win
- b. waste
- c. require
- d. conclude

3- Based on paragraph (2), what can be understood about “sucking our thumbs”?

- a. It is a habit that people can never get rid of at all.
- b. It is a habit that becomes programmed in our brains.
- c. It is a habit that some people acquire at an early age.
- d. It is a habit that was at the centre of a study programme.

4- Based on the text, decide whether the following statements are; True (T), False (F) or Not Given (NG).

A. Bad habits may return when we are under pressure.	()
B. Researchers were surprised by the answers of the volunteers in the first test.	()
C. The volunteers found the test more difficult in the second time.	()

4- Based on paragraph (2), how can early habits be broken at an early age? Mention TWO ways and say what can happen if a bad habit persists.

Based on paragraphs 4 & 5, what were the volunteers’ responses to the study programme?

Mention TWO responses and say what the researchers concluded.

Response 1
Response 2
