Unfortunately, there is a category of people who are ready to kill these animals just for fun or their beautiful parts of the body.

(3) The results are very sad you know. There are few Indian tigers on the Earth nowadays. Many of them are usually old sick animals and they don't hunt people but hide from them in deep dark forests. Or they used to hide earlier, because the trees also have been cut.

(4) We can ask the same question about African elephants. They are wonderful animals. They can help, entertain people. Last century Africa was full of elephants and nowadays you can't see them very often. I think that those animals should be protected because they have no clear future at all.
