Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow.

Keeping Fit and Healthy

When you are fit, you are healthier, you can study better and do daily tasks better. It doesn't have to be difficult to keep fit. Eating healthy food, having enough sleep and doing daily exercise help you to keep fit. Walking is easy and doesn't need any special equipment. Even playing a friendly game of football helps you to keep fit. Try to take the stairs rather than the lift, too. Of course, it is easier to sit down in front of the TV or computer, but it isn't necessarily healthy! A study published in a medical journal found out that students who play a lot of computer games get pains in their hands, arms, back and neck. So, don't sit down and start doing some exercise.

There are three main types of exercise _____ aerobics, resistance and stretching. Aerobic exercise is when you make your heart and lungs work hard. Examples of this are swimming and roller skating. Resistance training, such as press-ups and weight-lifting, is for building up your muscles. Stretching activities, such as yoga, make you more flexible. It is very important and necessary for athletes to have an exercise which contains all three types of exercise. Try to keep a diary and aim to train two or three times a week. Athletes think that a good exercise session has a warm up of 5-10 minutes to avoid injury. This could be walking or jogging. Exercises such as press-ups help to build up your muscles. Include aerobic exercises, such as cycling and basketball. Finally, stretching exercises, such as yoga are good for cooling down.

4. What helps you keep fit and healthy?

5. Why is it important to warm up before exercising?

Directions:

Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow.

1 Recycling means to separate, collect, reproduce, or convert used or waste products into new materials. It goes through many steps. It also helps in extending the life of something that has been used once. The process of recycling is not only important for humans but also for our planet itself.

How does recycling happen?

2 Recycling takes place in three stages. First, materials are collected and sorted into different types such as paper, metal, glass, or plastic. Next, sorted materials are reproduced to make new things from the same type. Finally, the new produced materials are sent to the markets to be used again by consumers. When they finish using those materials, the process will start again.

3 There are many benefits for using recycling: First, it helps in saving our environment, for example, recycling paper reduces the process of cutting down trees. Second, it saves energy because it takes less energy to reproduce recycled materials than to produce new ones. As a result, the amount of pollution will be reduced. Finally, recycling helps in saving money that means recycled products are less expensive than those made from fresh materials.

4 As the population of the world increases recycling is becoming increasingly more important. More factories are being built and more products are available, therefore there should be clear governmental as well as individual plans to concentrate on reproducing things and reducing the amount of pollution everywhere.
