Q4 Doha Metro

1. Every world-class city needs a world-class transport system and Doha is no different. When the Doha Metro opened in 2019, it brought the safest, the most convenient and the most efficient transport to the people of Doha, and transformed the city in time for the 2022 World Cup.

2. Three lines opened in 2019. The Red Line goes from Al Wakra in the south to the new city of Lusail in the north, with a link to Hamad International Airport. The Green Line goes between Al -Mansoura and Al Riffa in the west, passing through Education City. The Gold Line goes between Ras Bu Abboud and Al Aziziyah, with stops at important cultural sites such as the Qatar National Museum and Souq Waqif.

3. Beautiful or pleasant buildings can really improve the lives of the people that use them. The stations of the new Doha Metro certainly do this with large open spaces and spectacular design. On the inside, they remind passengers of traditional Bedouin tents, while on the outside they look similar to the dhow, the traditional Arab boat.

4. It's reported that in 2021, 600,000 passenger trips a day are made using the Doha Metro, which means far fewer cars on the roads. This is great news for the environment as there will be less pollution, and less greenhouse gas produced. Passengers on the new metro enjoy faster travelling times; for example, the journey from Msheireb to Qatar University is around 10 minutes quicker than it now takes to drive. But those who still need to use their cars should also waste less time sitting in queues.

5. The Doha Metro is just one of several projects that will make sure that Doha remains a world-class city for future generations. It was an essential part of the preparations for the 2022 World Cup, when fans reached many of the football stadiums by metro, but it is also be very important for the Qatar National Vision 2030, the long-term plan for the future success and happiness of all Qataris.

1. A Day To Remember

One afternoon last year, my dad and I were travelling back from visiting my grandparents. We were travelling along a long, lonely road. It was raining heavily and starting to get dark.

We saw a car up ahead on the side of the road which had broken down. There was a big scary-looking man covered in tattoos with a shaved head standing next to the car. He was waving at passing cars to stop, but none of them did. I was surprised when my dad pulled over and offered him a lift.

He was completely wet, but he asked only to be taken to the next town to get a taxi. My dad insisted on taking him into the city and gave him a warm jacket to wear. The man was grateful and asked for our name and address to return the jacket.

A few days later, a parcel arrived at the house. It was Dad's jacket and a cheque for 5,000. The man had been on his way to the hospital where his wife was having a baby and thanks to us he had got there in time to see his son born. We felt happy and surprised. We'll never forget that day and we'll always try to help someone in need no matter what they look like.

2. An Unforgettable Experience

Last summer, we decided to travel to North America to spend an exciting holiday.

One day, I and my friend Habib were hiking in the mountains. It was a wonderful sunny day. We came to the banks of a fast-flowing river and we wanted to get across.

Suddenly, I spotted a rope bridge a few yards away. We went to inspect it. A sign said, 'Danger! Do not cross!' "We must find another way," said Habib, but I ignored him and set off alone. Then, halfway across, a slat broke under my foot. I grabbed the rope to steady myself, but it broke too. Habib watched, horrified, as I plunged into the swirling.

I was waving and shouting as the water swept me away. Habib knew he had to act. He pulled the broken rope out of the water. I grabbed it and, seconds later, I was safe!

As I lay in the sun to dry out, I realized how foolish I had been. I was lucky to be alive. I became happy and thanked Allah that we came back home safe and sound.
