TEACHER'S DAY

Who shapes the person you are the most? Parents or other family members are probably at the top of the list for many people. But a close second place is very likely to go to a teacher. Some of the most influential and successful people in the world have a teacher in their childhood to thank for their success.

For some children, teachers are the only positively influential people in their lives. Antwone Fisher, a best-selling writer, grew up in foster homes, and didn't have many adults that he could trust. But a primary school teacher, Mrs. Profitt, was the first adult he ever trusted. 'She spoke to all of us the same way - with respect. No one spoke to me that way before. I think that being with her for three years made all the difference.'

There are thousands more stories like this, from famous people and ordinary people all across the world. That's why UNESCO celebrates teachers on 5 October every year. UNESCO wants us to remember that education is a basic human right and every child should have free education. UNESCO hopes to train 69 million new teachers by 2030 so that everyone can go to school, because, sadly, 264 million children in the world today are not in school because there aren't enough teachers. Those children are often in places where life is already very difficult because they live in poor areas or far away from cities and towns, or they are escaping war in their own countries.

So, if you have a teacher, you're one of the lucky ones. One day, you'll probably look back at your life, your successes, the dreams you've made come true or the difficult things you've survived. The chances are high that you'll find a teacher's words have helped you achieve these things. Perhaps you already know who that teacher will be. Why not find them and say thank you today on World Teachers' Day?

1. What is the main idea of the text?
 - A. a teacher`s day at school.
 - B. The best teacher in the world.
 - C. The role of teachers in our life.
 - D. The worst teacher in our world.

2. When does UNESCO celebrate teachers?
 - A. 5 August.
 - B. 5 October.
 - C. 10 October.
 - D. 10 November.

3. How did Mrs. Profitt speak to Antwone Fisher and his mates?
 - A. with anger.
 - B. with respect.
 - C. in a silly way.
 - D. in a rude way.

4. What does UNESCO want us to remember?

5. How many teachers does UNESCO hope to train by 2030?

2- Read the passage and answer the questions.

Everything, that is alive, needs energy. All animals get the energy they need from food. With food's help, the human body can do a lot of activities. Food gives us the energy that helps the human body do all types of work.

Plants use sunlight to make their own food. Animals are not able to do that. Some animals eat plants. Some animals eat other animals as meat. People eat both animals and plants.

Plants make their own food using sunlight. So, the sun's energy is found in plants. The sun's energy is very strong. It loses a lot of its strength by the time it goes into a plant.

It is good to eat plants to get more of the sun's energy. When an animal eats a plant, the energy is less strong. The animal also used its energy to find the plant to eat. When a second animal eats the first animal, it gets even less energy than the first animal got. The second animal used a lot of energy to chase its prey.

Like a car that has to be filled with petrol, living things have to eat again and again. Instead of petrol, living things have to eat food to get energy.

The sun

The Sun is a star. It is the center of our solar system, and all of the planets, including Earth, orbit around it. The Sun is a giant ball of hot plasma, which is a state of matter made up of electrically charged particles. The Sun is made up mostly of hydrogen and helium.

The Sun is very hot. Its surface temperature is about 9941 degrees Fahrenheit (5505 degrees Celsius). The Sun's core is even hotter, at about 27 million degrees Fahrenheit (15 million degrees Celsius).

The Sun's heat and light come from nuclear fusion reactions in its core. In nuclear fusion, hydrogen atoms are combined to form helium atoms. This process releases a lot of energy, which heats up the Sun and makes it shine.

The Sun is very important to life on Earth. It provides us with light and warmth. Without the Sun, there would be no plants or animals on Earth.
