The Smartest Parrot

- 1 Once upon time, there was a man who lived in a forest. He had a wonderful parrot. There was no other parrot like it. The parrot could say every word, except one word. The parrot would not say the name of the place where it was born, Catano.
- 2 The man felt excited having the smartest parrot, but he could not understand why the parrot would not say Catano. The man tried to teach the bird to say Catano; however, the bird kept not saying the word.
- 3 At the first, the man was very nice to the bird but then he got very angry. "You stupid bird!" pointed the man to the parrot. "Why can't you say the word? Say Catano! Or I will kill you" the man said angrily. Although he tried hard to teach, the parrot would not say it. Then the man got so angry and shouted at the bird over and over; "Say Catano or I'll kill you". The bird kept not saying the word of Catano.
- 4 One day after he had been trying so many times to make the bird say Catano, the man really got very angry. He could not bear it. He picked the parrot and threw it into the chicken house. There were four old chickens for the next dinner "You are as stupid as the chickens. Just stay with them" said the man angrily. Then he continued to humble; "You know, I will cut the chicken for my meal. Next it will be your turn, I will eat you too, stupid parrot". After that he left the chicken house.
- 5 The next day, the man came back to the chicken house. He opened the door and was very surprised. He could not believe what he saw at the chicken house. Wildfires

Wildfire is an uncontrolled fire that burns in the wildland vegetation, Wildfires can burn in forests, grasslands, savannas, and other ecosystems. And have been doing so for hundreds of millions of years.

There are different types of wildfires. Firstly, ground fires, which ignite in soil thick with organic matter that can feed the flames, like plant roots. Secondly, Surface fires, which burn in dead or dry vegetation that is lying or growing just above the ground. Thirdly, Crown fires, which burn in the leaves and canopies of trees and bushes.

Wildfires can start with a natural cause, like a lightning strike, or a human-made spark. However, it is often the weather conditions that determine how much wildfire grows.

Wildfires that burn near communities can become dangerous and even deadly if they grow out of control. For example, in July 2023, 34 people were killed in wildfires in Algeria. The fires forced more than 1,500 households to evacuate and caused at least 1,700 homes to lose power before they were able to control it.

Still, wildfires are essential to the continued survival of some plant species. For example, some tree cones need to be heated before they open and release their seeds; Other plants require fire before seeds will grow.

Wildfires also help keep ecosystems healthy. They can kill insects and diseases that harm trees, add nutrients to the soil, and open up space to let sunlight through to the ground. That sunlight can nourish smaller plants and give larger trees room to grow and flourish.

6. How can wildfires help keep ecosystems healthy?

Wintertime

1 Winter is cold in some places. While many plants do not grow during winter, some even pass away. Snow and ice may cover the ground in many parts of the world. This is hard for animals to find food during winter. Therefore, Animals get through this time in many ways.

2 Most birds can fly. That is why many of them do not stick around for the winter. They go to a place with nice weather. Then they return home in the spring when they can live normally and find food. We call this migration. Migrating is a good way to avoid the cold.

3 Another good way to avoid the cold is to sleep through it. We call this hibernation. Many animals hibernate during the winter. Their bodies slow down to use the least amount of energy. Moreover, they do not eat because food is not available. Therefore, they consume their stored fat. Snakes, frogs, and bears hibernate.

4 ¹ Other animals tough it out. ² They neither migrate nor hide; they must survive. ³ Some animals grow thicker coats in the winter. ⁴ Coats made of animals' fur are very expensive. ⁵ Other animals change color. ⁶ The arctic fox, for example, is brown in the summer; however, its coat turns white in winter.

5 In conclusion, winter may be pretty. It is nice to see snow on the trees. However, it is dangerous too. People are also at risk. You can get frost bitten or worse. How do you beat the winter? Do you wear a thick coat? Do you stay inside? Or do you live somewhere warm?

Sharks

- 1 There are almost four hundred different kinds of sharks. Each kind of shark looks different, has a unique diet, and behaves differently. There are sharks in the four oceans of the world. Some sharks are longer than school buses, while others are so small that they can live in fish tanks. Sharks come in all kinds of colors. Most of the time, their skin color helps them blend in with their surroundings. However, some sharks that live in the deepest part of the ocean actually have parts that glow in the dark. Most sharks live in salt water, but some can live in fresh water.
- 2 Sharks are actually a type of fish. There are some similarities as well as differences between sharks and typical fish. Shark skeletons are made of cartilage. Fish skeletons are made of bones. Cartilage is the bendy, tough substance in people's ears and noses. Like other fish, sharks have gills that help them breathe by getting oxygen from the water. Water needs to move over the gills so the sharks can get enough oxygen. That's why most sharks need to swim in water that has a very strong current to keep the water moving.
- 3 Sharks have a lot of teeth. They have many rows of teeth, rather than just one row like people. The teeth from the outside row gradually fall out. Then the teeth from the next row take their place. Some sharks will lose 30,000 teeth in a lifetime! Each species of shark has different kinds of teeth,
- 4 Sharks eat various kinds of food according to the environment they live in. Some sharks eat food as small as plankton. Other sharks eat animals as big as sea turtles. Most sharks do not eat very often. Some sharks will go weeks between meals. Sharks are at the top of the ocean food chain. This position is very important because it keeps all the other animal populations from growing out of control. This process helps ensure there is a diversity of life in the oceans.
